

Man has become so preoccupied with his day-to-day living that he has forgotten his beginning and continues to ignore his ending.

Man was not created to create. God has already created all there is that no man can ever create. Man can only co-create with either love and gratitude instead of fear and arrogance.

Once you lose your passion for Beauty you become dead inside. But be warned that the forms of Beauty can be extremely Deceptive.

Whenever you feel alone seize the moment as an opportunity to appreciate your own presence.

Much respect is due to quite people. That's why I apologize for all the noise I just made.

Do you ever feel like you are sleeping or fading away? Then a quarter of a second passes by so fast, during which you feel you're about to wake up and start living.

If your knees allow you to bend for Prayer, then do it ASAP. If your back allows you to bend for Prayer, then do it ASAP. If your knees and back are weak, then sit comfortably in your chair and pray, ASAP. Very few moments are left before you are able to repent.

Life is a journey of self-discovery. What have you discovered so far while Nothing & Everything are interchangeable terms that describe the same thing?

We are the greatest vehicle of expression that has ever been created. But in order to recognize such greatness we merely have to drop the freaking word "I".

The greatest place lies in the heart regardless of all exteriors.

You can never help anyone feel appreciative of themselves unless you have earned and owned the feeling of self-appreciation.

The experience of life on earth is a handful of loyal friends who look upon each other to reflect the eyes of God.

We all most likely feel that we have not even yet begun to live. This maybe is true here on earth where physical life has its beginnings and its endings, while we all long for a magical beginning that has no ending.

If we continue to claim that our mother is mother-earth, then perhaps the sun is our grand-mother causing us to wonder what is our true heritage then.

The truthful set of tears are only shed when you recognize how much God has loved you while all along you have hated and/or resented yourself.

If we continue to claim that our mother is mother-earth, then perhaps the sun is our grand-mother causing us to wonder what is our true heritage then.

The truthful set of tears are only shed when you recognize how much God has loved you while all along you have hated and/or resented yourself.

I miss drinking water from the streams. I miss picking an apple or a date from a tree offering itself for free. I miss running down the valleys with the sweat of its sand. I miss being a free child. I miss sewing a necklace with the leaves of a Jasmin flower. What has happened to our Innocence?

I have reached a point in my life where I can no longer gather things or subjects that I cannot take with me. I have tried to live traveling in a suitcase for so many years, to the point that my own suitcase has become a burden on me. At some point I am going to have to shed my own skin.

There is nothing uglier than arrogance and conceit.

I try to live today as if tomorrow is my last day. But I have yet to learn how to live today as if IT IS my last.

Stop wasting your life between today and tomorrow about something that happened yesterday.

Power is not over anything or anyone but rather over one's own mind. If you can spend one single day without a single negative thought, you will be amazed how everything and everyone around you will begin to alter into positive states of being.

I tried today not to allow a single negative thought but I failed miserably. There are a million issues to complain about but there is only one thing to be grateful for.